

Name: Imononokawai

Introduction: This mushi infest the dreams and can predict the reality of the hosts future. Although not all of the dreams come true, like in Episode 4, it can be associated with prophetic results.

Etymology: Although, there doesn't seem to be a real Japanese word for this term, on the MushiWiki website it is referred to as 'Field of Dreams'.

Story: Makes its debut in Episode 4 of Mushishi where it causes

Jin. After taking the medicine the mushi only leads to more devastation and the death of his daughter. Jin slashes his pillow, kills the Mushi, and later himself.

Symptoms: Vivid/Predictive dreams/Weak exposure to sunlight.

Similarities: - Makes clear it manifest in dream
- Dramatization of mushi

Difference: - Train-like representation
- Manga shows more separate
- More staggered
- Abrupt entrance